

Read My Aura

Terry: I remember in one of your satsangs from your web-site you mentioned that you have the ability to see/read aura's and I'd love to know if/what you see in mine...if you don't mind...no biggie though! Thanks so much for your help, and I will continue to study.

James: The 'aura' thing is just knowledge of the subtle body. I don't know you well enough to make any statements. And I should be in your presence to read it. And any statements I would make would not change anything anyway, so what is the point? And since the aura is in Maya it is subject to the gunas and is in a state of constant flux...so what appears one moment will not be there the next. And anyway, you cannot make book on aura knowledge. If you understand the teachings of Vedanta it is clear when you open your mouth and express yourself where you are caught up or not so there is no need to get any extra information. I haven't heard much about auras in recent years, although at one time it was all the rage, like past lives, channeling, manifesting, etc. At best reading auras is fascination with quasi spiritual epiphenomena. I suppose people are interested because there is a belief that somehow this knowledge will give them 'the edge' in their seeking, but I have not found that is so. For me, the condition of the aura sometimes confirms or denies certain observations.
