This extraordinary email came from an 88-year-old woman who had given up on life and was eagerly awaiting death.

Sally: Dear Marty, thank you so much for letting me know about James' session, but sadly, I can't come. I am reading his book and loving it, although there are some queries which I hope to raise in October, just wondering whether to come earlier in May and will explore dates and possibilities. In the meantime I hope you received my unsolicited writings. Anyway, in the meantime lots of good wishes and thank you and James again for a week which had an enormous impact on my life... so much so that I now don't really want to pop off!!!

~ Love, Sally
