

Floundering Around in Neo-Advaitaland

Ram (James Swartz)

2010-12-27

Source: <http://www.shiningworld.com/site/satsang/read/1812>

Shanti: Aloha, Ramji. Thanks again for writing. I know you're busy. Much appreciated.

Yes, you are right, the "shift" was self identifying with self and the absurdity of the simplicity. I have never laughed so hard for so long after I got home that day. It felt great! How could I be so identified with thoughts of a Shanti? Another realization that came is that I am the light and I've always been the light. As a very young girl this knowing was with me, and later it became obscured by thought and conditioning.

Many thanks to Vedanta and your experienced guidance. I doubt I would have been able to successfully identify with self. Much floundering around in Neo-Advaitaland would have been my only option had I not come across your website.

Now self illumines the body, its actions, the thoughts, etc.

~ With much aloha, Shanti