

The Myth of Freedom

Ram (James Swartz)

2019-01-29

Source: <http://www.shiningworld.com/site/satsang/read/3838>

Student: Hello, James.

I don't think I ever properly thanked you for what you do. But I am really grateful for your teaching and I wanted to express it in this little email.

Thinking that I was this person was killing me, really. And feeling that I "had to" do things. If it wasn't for the excellent way you put out the knowledge of Vedanta, I would have never figured it out. The way you explain it just can't be more clear. Your words make a lot of sense and they repeat in my mind over and over, making the knowledge more and more firm each day. I can just see it.

There is no such thing as freedom. I cannot be in love with it more, because it is me! And it is thanks to you in an immense part, so thank you very much!!

I hope everything goes great for you and Sundari, and that someday we get to meet again.

~ Much love

James: Appreciation is much appreciated. I'm so glad that you cracked the code!!! Yes indeed, freedom is your nature, not something to be sought. Be sure to give yourself a nice pat on the back for sticking with the teaching. May Isvara bless you in every way, and may we meet again before long.

~ Love, James